Organizational Note:

The Indianapolis-Scarborough Peace Games were a multi-sport amateur sporting competition promoting international friendships between residents of Indianapolis and Scarborough, Ontario, Canada. The Peace Games were first formed in 1972 and named after the Vietnam Peace Treaty. The first competition took place during the summer of 1973 in Scarborough. The Peace Games were held every summer, alternating the international competition location between Indianapolis and Scarborough. In 2003, the international competition was cancelled due to cases of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) reported in Toronto where the competition was to take place. 2004 marked the final year of the Indianapolis-Scarborough Peace Games, and the international competition was held in Scarborough. Decline in participation and economic support were key factors in ending the Games.

Scope and Content Note:

This is a collection of 18 manuscript boxes and 2 oversized folders arranged in 4 series. It contains a variety of materials from the Peace Games as well as related events (i.e. International Games Conference) from 1972 to 2004. Materials include meeting minutes of the board of directors and various committees involved with the Peace Games, press releases, fliers, financial materials, correspondence, and competition results. The series are divided into board of directors papers, financial papers, Peace Games papers, and photographs/slides.

Series Descriptions:

Board of Directors Papers:

This series contains one manuscript box of meeting minutes, correspondence, directories, and other materials of the board of directors for the Indianapolis-Scarborough Peace Games from 1977 to 2004. The board of directors became the board of advisors and finally the executive board during the span of the Games.

Also included with the board of directors papers are editions of the Peace Games by-laws from 1983 to 1993

Financial Papers:

This series contains 3 manuscript boxes of correspondence, financial reports and other materials from 1976 to 2004. It is split into 5 sub-series: budget/financial reports, sponsorship materials, finance committee papers, fundraising items, and miscellaneous financial papers. The financial reports sub-series includes budget reports, treasurer's reports, financial statements, and proposals. Sponsorship materials include correspondence with potential sponsors, papers from the 1995 sponsorship committee, and other sponsorship related materials. The finance committee papers include minute meetings, agendas, correspondence, directories, and miscellaneous finance committee papers. Fundraising papers include papers for the various fundraisers, including the golf tournament, walk-a-thon, and Gus Macker tournament. The papers include correspondence, meeting notes, and lists of fundraiser participants. The miscellaneous financial papers sub-series includes materials such as invoices, reimbursement requests, and miscellaneous correspondence.

Peace Games Papers:

This series includes 10 manuscript boxes of materials from 1975 to 2004. The Peace Games papers are organized chronologically by year. The papers contains a variety of papers such as correspondence between planning and support committees as wells as sport chairpersons, brochures and fliers for the Games, press releases, lists of competition participants and results, and materials from related events (i.e. the International Games Conference.)

Photographs/Slides:

This series includes 4 manuscript boxes of photographs, negatives, and slides from the Indianapolis-Scarborough Peace Games. The materials are arranged in chronological order by type. The photographs include 1974 to 2004, negatives from 1975 to 1991, and slides from 1986 to 1990.
